Zoning hearing for Toll plan postponed

MIDDLETOWN

The Middletown zoning hearing board meeting to consider variances needed for a new township community center and shopping center to be built by Reedman/Toll Auto World owner Bruce Toll has been postponed until Dec. 12, township zoning officials said. The variances originally were going to be considered at tonight's meeting.

Officials said the postponement was at the request of Toll's representatives. He has agreed to donate land to the township for a new community center in exchange for a new shopping center to be constructed where the dealership's test track stands.
