
Punish the lawbreakers

I was watching the Dec. 8 Middletown Township Board of Supervisors meeting and not being involved in politics I had to question why the supervisors had to revote to confirm their actions since April 29. So with further research and the explanation of the township solicitor I found it was because Supervisor Heuer was appointed to her position in violation of the Sunshine Law. This violation was upheld in Bucks County Court. She was later reappointed to fill the same position thus the vote to approve all the votes that she made when she was illegally serving in that capacity.

Now I have two very important questions, which were to the best of my knowledge never answered. First, what was the punishment to those who broke the Sunshine Law? And was Supervisor Heuer paid for the time she was on the board illegally; and if so, did she return the taxpayers money?
